Dear Prime Minister and Ministers Hajdu and Anandasangaree:

RE: Proposal to negotiate a letter of commitment in advance of March 24, 2025

I write in my capacity as Chair of the National Children's Chiefs Commission (the "NCCC") to propose that we work collaboratively over the next two months on a letter of commitment in relation to a national agreement on long-term reform of First Nations child and family services ("LTR Agreement") and a process to address Jordan's Principle. We believe that delivering justice for all First Nations children isn't just the right thing to do – it is the necessary thing to do for our children, for our Nations, and for Canada. Doing so is also consistent with the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal's ("CHRT") merits decision (First Nations Child and Family Caring Society of Canada et al v Attorney General of Canada (for the Minister of Indian and Northern Affairs, 2016 CHRT 2) and subsequent orders.

The Chiefs, sitting together as the First Nations-in-Assembly, voted overwhelmingly on behalf of rights holders to establish the NCCC and mandated it to oversee further negotiations in relation to the LTR Agreement and Jordan's Principle, all while working collaboratively with the Assembly of First Nations Executive.

The NCCC, which is supported by skilled First Nations technical experts from across Canada, is comprised of: (i) one regional representative, an alternate, and their technician(s) from each of the eleven AFN regions; and (ii) one regional representative, an alternate, and their technician(s) for every region not represented by AFN. All regions except for Ontario have appointed their NCCC representatives through their regional processes, and the NCCC began to convene regular meetings in December 2024. The Commissioners bring considerable expertise in child and family services, Jordan's Principle, governance, inter-governmental relations, and negotiations.

We were pleased to hear the Prime Minister's remarks during Special Chiefs Assembly in December 2024 confirming that the $47.8B earmarked in the draft final settlement agreement is still there and that Canada remains committed to reaching an agreement. Similar sentiments were echoed by the Minister of Indigenous Services Canada. These remarks confirm our shared interest and duty to ensure that this generation of First Nation children grows up free of all forms of discrimination and is able to live the lives that they wish to have and that their ancestors prayed for.

Canada's public statements in the wake of the AFN Special Chiefs Assembly in October 2024 suggest that the government has questions about: (i) the scale of funding required to satisfy the orders on First Nations child and family services; (ii) whether First Nations would consider a pathway that would, at some point in the future, end the CHRT's jurisdiction; and (iii) whether First Nations outside of Ontario are ready to proceed with a negotiated settlement.

In relation to the first issue, the NCCC is committed to an evidence-informed approach. Our experts have informed us that while there is a need for capacity building funds to ensure First Nations are set up for success and some expenditures such as capital, post-majority services, and band-representative services may need to continue at actuals for a limited time because there is insufficient evidence to project future costs, the overall funding envelope that is required to end discrimination in First Nations child and family services and ensure it never happens again is in the ballpark of what Canada previously proposed. This assumes a fair and equitable distribution among regions related to relevant factors such as the rates of over-representation of First Nations children in care, including in Ontario.

The NCCC is committed to maximizing the value of every dollar to deliver measurable outcomes for our First Nation children, youth, and families. We see important opportunities to re-allocate funding in the draft final settlement agreement in ways that will more directly benefit children and improve accountability to First Nations Leadership.

In relation to the second issue, the NCCC sees a pathway that would, at some point in the future, end the CHRT's jurisdiction.

In relation to readiness, the First Nations-in-Assembly passed clear resolutions directing a reset of negotiations. The NCCC is established and is supported by skilled First Nations technical experts from across Canada. We also benefit from the evidence-based research that has been completed that can inform the way forward. We are ready to discharge the sacred responsibilities we have been entrusted with by First Nations in our respective 11 regions.

The NCCC would like to meet with you, the AFN Executive, and the Caring Society at the earliest opportunity to gauge Canada's interest in entering into a binding letter of commitment before March 24, 2025, to secure existing commitments and to chart a pathway forward to resolve the CHRT proceeding on child and family services. We would also welcome discussions to set a pathway to address current challenges and the long-term reform of Jordan's Principle. We will send more specific proposals on how we can address the outstanding issues next week to help inform our meeting.

Sincerely,

Chief Pauline Frost
Chair, NCCC
