Dear Chief Frost:

Thank you for your correspondence of January 24, 2025, sent to the Right Honourable Justin Trudeau, Prime Minister, the Honourable Gary Anandasangaree, Minister of Crown-Indigenous Relations and Northern Affairs, and myself in relation to a national agreement on long-term reform of the First Nations Child and Family Services Program.

The Agreement-in-Principle on Long-Term Reform of the First Nations Child and Family Services Program and Jordan's Principle signed by the Assembly of First Nations, Caring Society, Chiefs of Ontario, and Nishnawbe Aski Nation in December 2021, was an evidence-informed approach that provided a foundation for improving the lives of First Nation children and families across the country.

Canada remained committed to a First Nations-led approach to reforming the First Nations Child and Family Services Program, and developed a fully reformed Program in the Final Agreement with the rights holder Parties to the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal's complaint. The robust framework of reforms contained within the Final Agreement would have legally bound Canada to provide $47.8 billion in stable and predictable funding over ten years for a fully reformed First Nations Child and Family Services Program that would have reduced the number of First Nation children in care and kept children connected to their families, communities, and cultures.

Canada remains committed to the implementation of the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal's orders, and to ending the discrimination identified by the Tribunal and preventing its recurrence.

There has been confusion regarding the role of the National Children's Chiefs Committee and whether you and the committee are the body that Canada should be working with, as the Assembly of First Nations has yet to clarify their role in relation to long-term reform of the First Nations Child and Family Services Program. Attached is the most recent correspondence from the Assembly of First Nations' counsel indicating that they are awaiting instructions on this issue. I would encourage the National Children's Chiefs Commission to work directly with officials from the Assembly of First Nations with respect to long-term reform of the First Nation Child and Family Services Program to clarify this situation.

Yours sincerely,
